

ABSTRACT

An airbag module has an airbag inflator and a vehicle hood airbag. The vehicle hood airbag is inflated by the airbag inflator and oriented to deploy at an acute angle over a vehicle hood. Following deployment, the vehicle airbag has an airbag length and an airbag width. The airbag length is sized to extend only substantially along the vehicle hood length while the airbag width is sized to extend substantially across a vehicle hood width.